Security Roles, Duties & License Mapping Reference

Generated: March 31, 2026

Based on Dynamics 365 F&O standard security framework

DISCLAIMER: This document provides a representative mapping of standard D365 F&O security roles, duties, and license types. Actual role/duty assignments may vary based on your environment configuration, customizations, and Microsoft licensing updates. Always verify against your specific Dynamics 365 LCS subscription and the Security configuration form in your environment.

License Types Overview

Finance

Full user license for Dynamics 365 Finance. Grants access to general ledger, accounts payable/receivable, budgeting, fixed assets, cash management, and financial reporting.

Supply Chain Management

Full user license for Dynamics 365 Supply Chain Management. Grants access to procurement, inventory, warehouse, production, transportation, and quality management.

Commerce

Full user license for Dynamics 365 Commerce. Grants access to retail channel management, merchandising, POS, e-commerce, call center, and unified pricing.

Human Resources

Full user license for Dynamics 365 Human Resources. Grants access to workforce management, leave/absence, benefits, compensation, training, and compliance.

Project Operations

Full user license for Dynamics 365 Project Operations. Grants access to project planning, resource management, time/expense, project accounting, and billing.

Team Members

Limited user license for light-touch scenarios: self-service HR, time/expense entry, approvals, read-only dashboards. Cannot perform full transactional operations.

Activity

Task-specific user license for repetitive operational tasks: warehouse mobile device operations, shop floor execution, production floor input. Very limited menu access.

Device

Shared device license allowing multiple workers to use a single shared device (e.g. warehouse scanner, kiosk). Not tied to a named user.
